

YOUR HOME - YOUR COMFORT - YOUR COST

Two Workshops Hosted by COSC's Builder Advisory Council

Monday, April 13, 2015 - Home Energy Matters

Monday, April 20, 2015 - Home Water Management Matters

COSC, in partnership with their Builder Advisory Council, will present two evening workshops on critical topics for homeowners to be aware of – Energy and Water Management. These topics tie directly to COSC's online resource - Home Matters.

The panel of instructors: Dave Hade, Dave Fish, Paris Boehm, Silas Hoepfner, & Bill McAnally are resident experts in their sector of the green building marketplace. They will present an engaging workshop for homeowners to help them take vital steps to ensure the health, safety, efficiency and durability of their existing home.

The Home Energy Matters workshop will focus on: Goals (comfort, savings, energy conservation), pre-inspection, calculations and numbers, various areas of the home, equipment, and post-testing.

The Home Water Management Matters workshop will focus on: the causes of water problems, roof, window and door flashing, the foundation, the exterior grade, and collecting water.

Each workshop will be held from 5:30 pm to 8:00 pm at the Westside Polk County Community Center at 134 6th Street in Historic Valley Junction, West Des Moines.

Registration Fee: $10 for COSC Members & $20 for Non-members.

Dinner & refreshments are included in the fee.

Please register by emailing info@icosc.com.
